

Market Mommies Blog

I Love Krazy Ketchup, Mabel's Label's and Allergy Apparel!

Wednesday, December 02, 2009

Since starting this website about a month ago, I have been amazed at the creativity of moms. Below are three that I have to share with you.

Krazy Ketchup

My kids love ketchup. In fact, one day when we went to the McDonald's playland on Sawmill Road I caught my sons filling their drink cups with ketchup and trying to drink it with a straw!!

The moms behind Krazy Ketchup wanted to give Ketchup a make over and take on the debate on whether or not ketchup is a vegetable. They did it. Krazy Ketchup contains all the vegetables you can imagine and tastes so much better. I baked some french fries today for me and the kids to try it out. I couldn't get enough. And the kids didn't notice the difference. They still used their french fries as dipping sticks to eat it!

Mabel's Labels

Another product I recently had the opportunity to try was Mabel's Labels. I am one of those moms who pulls out her sharpie (when I can find it) to write my kids names on their cups, bags, coats, and whatever else they might lose. The problem is my 2nd son is now stuck carrying a thomas the train back pack with his big brother's name on it. Mabel's Labels have fixed that problem. They make amazing labels for the fam. My son Ross got his today and has been putting them on anything and everything. Their teachers will be happy because they won't try and make out the chicken scratches I make with my sharpie!

Allergy Apparel

And finally - What I think is such a clever idea (I just LOVE moms!) I am so thankful my kids don't have allergies. However, we have lots of friends with food allergies. So, Allergy Apparel was born. They have the cutest baby and kids clothes that are trendy but also important as they tell everyone of a child's allergies. Check them out :)