

the MomsWhoSave.com Blog

I Love Crazy Ketchup!

Being on Twitter has helped me discover so many great people, products, and ideas, I can't begin to list them all, so today I'll tell you about just one.

It's Crazy Ketchup--yes, ketchup! The two moms who created this organic ketchup were nice enough to send me a bottle to try, and I can honestly say I love it!

In my not-so-professional opinion, it tastes more "real," and not so sugary and processed like the ketchups we're used to buying. That's not to say it's not sweet, but Crazy Ketchup gets its sweetness from organic agave nectar. There are also organic sweet potatoes, squash, and carrots in the ketchup, but all I tasted was the tomatoes. What a great way to get some extra veggies into your kids' diets!

The only negative for me is that Crazy Ketchup is not available in my area, and the only way for me to get it is to order it online. Consider yourself lucky if you can buy Crazy Ketchup in your area!

Check out this great mom-run company on Twitter, myspace, or on their website!